

What your handwriting says about you

A handwritten note can say more about the writer than the message itself. Some experts believe that the way you write gives away clues as to what kind of personality you have.

Try it for yourself! Write down this sentence: 'I know that green frogs eat purple cranberries.' Then use this guide to see what your handwriting says about you. Ask a pal to write down three sentences on unlined paper.

Then analyse their writing using our guide, to tell what kind of person they are. They'll be amazed at your powers of perception!

The letter t

If you cross in the middle like

You're likely to set mini-goals, such as not missing the school bus.

If you cross two-thirds of the way up like

You make long-term goals you can achieve with hard work, such as scoring an A on an exam.

If you cross high or above the stem like

You're a dreamer with very high goals, such as becoming Prime Minister!

The letter i

If your dot is over the top like

You're a loyal friend.

If your dot is high and off to the right like

You're enthusiastic and upbeat.

If your dot is in a bubble shape like

You're imaginative and a crowd-pleaser.

Spaces

If you leave narrow spaces between your words like

You're a talkative person who likes to hang out with others.

If you leave wide spaces between words like

You can be shy at times. But you're also thoughtful and likely to be the first to remember a friend's birthday.

If there are no spaces between your words like

It means you're very confident and like to be where there's a lot of action!

Slant

If your letters stand up straight like

You prefer to think things through before acting, and you tend to keep your feelings to yourself.

If your letters lean to the right like

You're outgoing and sociable – but when something's troubling you, people are quick to notice.

DID YOU KNOW...?

It's believed that fewer than one in 100 people slant their writing to the left – but no one's sure why. Which way does yours slant?

Shape

If your letters are big and bubbly like

You're affectionate and like to hear you've done a good job. You often base your decisions on what feels right, instead of just the facts.

If your letters are small and compact like

You're smart and independent. You use logic to tackle problems and try to handle things yourself before asking for help.

Doodles

If you draw shapes like

You're a clear thinker. You like to plan things and are very organised.

If you make flowery doodles like

You're a very friendly and warm person, which makes you a great mate!

If these personality profiles don't match you, that's OK. These are just for fun!
